1.A	p. 002-5	12		Parchemin	as of March 2016 : - fragment of a lectionary that has its own shelf number (gr. 26), but was once physically combined with gr. 27 constituting one Circulation Unit (unité de circulation); - the film on which the images in the VMR are based was taken in 1957 from the physically combined entity consisting of gr. 26 and gr. 27; - since August 2015, gr. 26 has now been registered as a separate object in the Liste under its own number GA I 2465, the respective images have been moved to this location; - as a consequence the "old" binding information has to be collected from both locations in VMR, i.e. GA 0211 and GA I 2465; - it appears, though, that the old binding of the combined "Umlaufeinheit" contained book boards and at least one flyleaf in the beginning; - according to an email exchange with the current manuscript keeper, at present, only a draft version of a modern catalogue description is extant in Georgian, which is eventually due to be published in English; - according to the manuscript keeper the two folios containing the evangelists portrait and the lectionary text appear to belong together; this I cannot assess.
